Re: Proposition 65 Warning
FasTest, Incorporated

This letter explains FasTest's intent regarding the warning language on FasTest, Inc. products shipped to California.

The Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act was adopted in the State of California as a voter initiative (Proposition 65) in November 1986. It provides for restrictions on exposure to and use of certain chemicals which have been determined by the State of California to cause cancer, birth defects or other reproductive harm. Proposition 65 requires that business operating in California as well as businesses marketing products in California put warnings on any product containing listed chemicals unless the seller has tests that prove the product meets Proposition 65 exposure levels.

FasTest has instituted a company policy to label all products that are shipped to or sold to consumers in California with the required Proposition 65 warning language. There are over nine hundred (900) chemicals on the Proposition 65 list and many FasTest products have one or more of the listed chemicals in it. For example, brass, rubber, steel and most machined metals have small amounts of the listed chemicals in them. FasTest has determined that conducting the required testing to certify our products fall under the Proposition 65 exposure levels would be costly, time consuming and difficult. Therefore, FasTest is placing the warning on product packaging to ensure compliance with the California law. For further information on Proposition 65 please visit www.P65Warnings.ca.gov.

If you have further questions regarding the Proposition 65 warning, please contact FasTest with specific product information and concerns.
